professionals can expect a rewarding two-year learning experience and a climb up their career ladder. Given the program's strong supporting partnerships and veteran teachers, working professionals seeking a career jump can have their cake and eat it as well. With classes being held online, the teaching will be rigorous and passionate with an eclectic mix of experienced lecturers, innovative pedagogy, and a flexible curriculum on Coursera's platform. The curriculum comprises functional and general management courses. Despite the option for veterans to leave their lucrative careers or relocate, they will get access to industry insights and a strong online learning platform.

The PGPM has a 2-month online module, a one-year full-time residential component, and an additional year for women, allowing them to continue their journeys while pursuing the part-time program. The program is designed to create world-class researchers and faculty in various management disciplines. The PGPM is ideal for working executives, with the option to benefit from a scholarship from the institute. Disadvantaged children and teachers in India will also be supported through the program.

Students from the PGPM Class of 2022 experienced a significant average salary hike of 173.60 percent, with an impressive 176.36 percent of graduates securing placements within the first three months of graduation. This year's average hike over incoming salaries was an impressive 173.60 percent as well. The institute's rich legacy was discussed by Dr. Sesha Iyer, who expressed her wonderful experiences with the institution. Ms. Daya Gore, an SPJIMR alumna, shared her thoughts on the milestone in management education. While SPJIMR alumna, Prof. Ratika, acknowledged the institution's substantial contribution to the organization's growth and success.

The institute celebrated its 42nd Foundation Day, acknowledging with gratitude their substantial contribution. The mood was one of joy and nostalgia, with a special focus on achievements and contributions. The report on the SVB crisis and its impact on the Indian start-up ecosystem was published by CFI, providing insights and strategies to mitigate the challenges. The Center for Financial Innovation (CFI) is deeply involved in socially responsible endeavors, such as supporting disadvantaged children and teachers in India.

The institute's rich legacy was discussed by Dr. Sesha Iyer, who shared her wonderful experiences. Ms. Daya Gore, an SPJIMR alumna, shared her thoughts on the milestone in management education. While SPJIMR alumna, Prof. Ratika, acknowledged the institution's substantial contribution to the organization's growth and success.

The institute celebrated its 42nd Foundation Day, acknowledging with gratitude their substantial contribution to the organization's growth and success. The mood was one of joy and nostalgia, with a special focus on achievements and contributions. The report on the SVB crisis and its impact on the Indian start-up ecosystem was published by CFI, providing insights and strategies to mitigate the challenges. The Center for Financial Innovation (CFI) is deeply involved in socially responsible endeavors, such as supporting disadvantaged children and teachers in India.