Insight of the Month

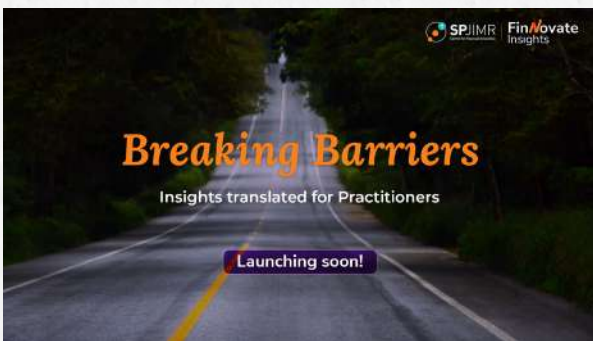

Fintech through a Gender Lens

Read our latest article discussing gender disparities in fintech adoption in India, emphasizing hurdles faced by women, including a mobile internet gender gap. Global research reveals men have higher fintech adoption rates than women. In India, initiatives such as PMJDY and customized fintech products aim to bridge gender gaps, enhance financial inclusion, and empower women through financial literacy programs. Fintech companies leverage technology to extend financial access to women, contributing to a transformative role in fostering inclusivity.
